

The Best Barber in the World

Lloyd Dinklaker boasted that he was the best barber in the world. For sure, he was the most meticulous. He would often spend ten minutes or more measuring a single hair follicle before carefully cutting it. Sure, the result was good, sometimes even very good. However, by the time Lloyd was finished – and satisfied – it was usually time for the client's regularly scheduled follow-up tonsorial treatment.